Rebecca is based in Worcestershire and is a senior occupational therapist who qualified in 1991. She has worked in a range of acute and community settings both as a clinician and manager.

Having worked in a variety of clinical areas Rebecca is able to draw on her wide ranging experience with many different client groups from the acute post-injury phase to many years post-injury. These have included individuals following amputation and joint replacement, abdominal surgery, as well as those with cancer, stroke and Parkinson's disease.

Rebecca has worked with many people who experience pain and associated complications. In conjunction with their physical injuries, she has worked with numerous clients who also have cognitive impairments and mental health conditions, for example memory issues, depression and anxiety.

Her roles have enabled her to be able to work closely with the multi-disciplinary team to ensure the most appropriate and client centered package of care and therapy to maximize their functioning with their home and the local community.

During her career Rebecca has demonstrated effective leadership and managerial skills both for a large team, as head occupational therapist within a 350-bed acute hospital and smaller teams, most recently leading a team of county-wide housing occupational therapists.

Rebecca has also undertaken expert witness work since 2005 and has an excellent understanding of the medico-legal process and working with solicitors. She has undergone court room skills training.

Rebecca is calm and well organized and able to manage a caseload of clients efficiently. She regularly attends learning opportunities for her own professional development and supervises more junior staff.
